

---

From: Stefan Donnelly, Fairtrade Foundation <hello@fairtrade.org.uk>
Sent: 22 October 2021 07:59
To:
Subject: Two weeks from now, what would you like to see?

LATEST NEWS

For Rwandan coffee farmer Aimable Nshimiye, the answer is simple: leaders of the world's wealthiest nations keeping their climate promises at the COP26 climate conference.

Will you sign to support Aimable and 1.8 million Fairtrade farmers and workers, as they challenge world leaders to 'Be Fair With Their Climate Promise'?

SIGN THE PETITION

Aimable Nshimiye with Fairtrade farmers and workers' letter to politicians at COP26. Sign the petition to show your support.

For Aimable, climate change is something he takes on every day.

Earning enough for a decent life is getting harder, as climate change damages his land. But he is also already working on solutions, including planting trees, to protect his coffee crop and the wider local environment.

For years, leaders of the world's wealthiest countries have pledged to create a $100 billion climate fund. A fund communities like Aimable's could use to plant more trees, or invest in more climate smart farming techniques.

But they have not kept their promises. And they've not kept promises on reducing emissions, or making the big changes needed for a fairer global trade system.

SIGN FOR A FAIR CLIMATE PROMISE

We have a chance to change that now. Please sign the petition and help hold our leaders to account.

Want to hear more about the great work Aimable and his Umushinzi wa kawa Fairtrade coffee growing co-operative are doing to take on the climate crisis? Check out this short film from Fairtrade Africa.

Thanks again for your support. We will keep you posted as the COP26 conference begins, and Fairtrade farmers arrive in Glasgow to hand over their challenge to world leaders in person.

Best wishes,

Stefan

Campaigns Team, Fairtrade Foundation

We've recently updated our privacy notice. Please read it for up-to-date information about how we use and look after your personal information.

Manage your preferences | Unsubscribe

Fairtrade Foundation, 5.7 The Loom, 14 Gower's Walk, London, E1 8PY

We are a registered charity in England and Wales (no 1043886) and a company limited by guarantee registered in England (no 2733136).