Put freedom of religion or belief at the heart of the election.

CSW everyone
free to believe

Hello Roger,

We know that the right to freedom of religion or belief is important to you. And because it's important to you, it's important to aspiring MPs – it's their job to take action on the things that matter to you.

With the UK general election just around the corner, now is your chance to use your voice!

Here are two simple ways to help put freedom of religion of belief at the heart of the election.

1\) Write to your prospective parliamentary candidates today.

You can use our email template or follow our tips to write your own message, urging them to make human rights (including freedom of religion or belief) a priority. Simply enter your postcode to see who is standing in your area. Make sure they know that it is an important issue to you and will inform how you vote on 4 July.

2\) Download our 'cheat sheet' on what to ask your parliamentary candidates.

The candidates standing for election as MPs will want to hear your views – so they'll be out and about asking which issues are important to you ahead of the election. We understand it can be hard to know exactly what to say to prospective parliamentary candidates on this issue, so we've put together a handy 'cheat sheet' for you to use if a candidate comes to your door, and to use at hustings events, where you can ask questions in person.

Remember: your voice matters – make it heard!

Both of these are fantastic opportunities to raise freedom of religion or belief with people who could make a real difference.

Thank you for all you do to support freedom and justice for all!
